WHY DO

INDIANA'S

BABIES AND

MOMS NEED

SUPPORT?

DELIVERING HOPE AND HEALTH:

Life-Saving Support for Babies and Moms

- Goals:

- Earlier prenatal diagnosis of congenital anomalies
- More immediate diagnosis and care for moms with high-risk pregnancies
- Improved infant survival rates
- Statewide education about safe sleep practices
- Give every Hoosier a chance for a healthy start to life

WHAT IS THE KIWANIS CAMPAIGN PROVIDING?

- Have established a Maternal Fetal Medicine Endowment that continues to grow. Helps care for moms and babies across the state
- Addresses a critical shortage of Maternal Fetal Medicine Specialists in the state. Riley has recruited 11 specialists and a team of caregivers
- Specialists offer training, education and support to hospitals and clinics across the state

Why is MFM Important?

- An increase of 5 MFMs per 10,000 births lowers the maternal mortality risk by 27%
- Babies with serious birth defects have better outcomes if they are delivered in the appropriate level of care
- Indiana has a high infant mortality rate – have improved but has a way to go
- Can develop a prognosis and prepare families with a plan prior to birth

Riley Maternity Tower Now Open

A maternity tower to care for low-risk to highly complex pregnancies—mother and baby are under one roof

Floor 1 | Atrium

Floor 2 | Labor and Delivery, including dedicated operating rooms
Obstetrics Intensive Care Unit (OBICU)

Floor 3 | Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU)

Floors 4 and 5 | Mother/Baby Postpartum

68 private rooms for mothers
105 private NICU rooms

Ja'Khari was eating and taking a nap in the NICU section of the tower. He arrived there Sunday during the move over to the new tower from IU Health Methodist Hospital. He's been getting lots of rest and is continuing to eat well and increase his weight. When he was born on Nov. 5th he weighed 3lbs. 2oz, today he is a content baby who rarely cries and enjoys being bundled up in his "baby burrito" blanket.

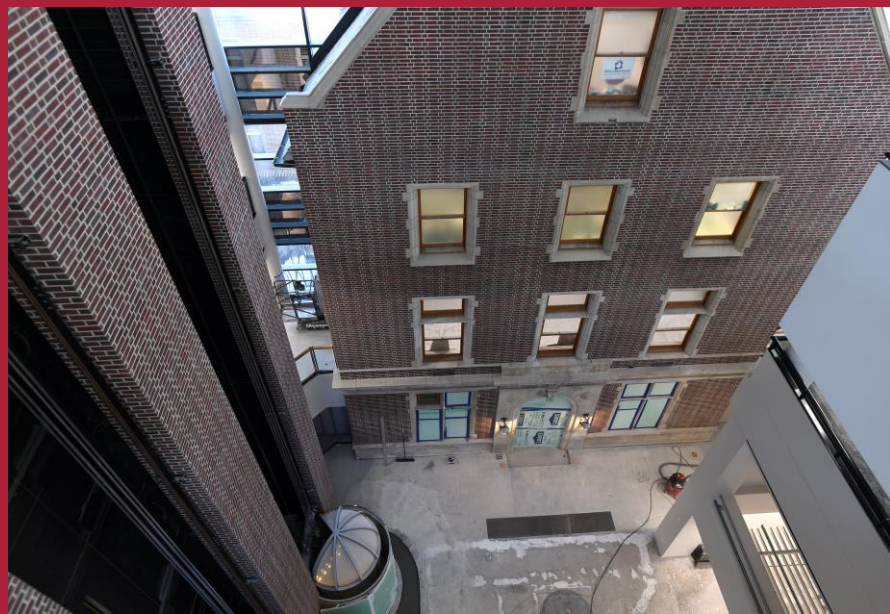

Success and Stories

Child and mother recently seen in the Fetal Center Clinic. MFM, Neonatologist and radiologist met with mom after noticing fetal abnormality. Staff were looking at the fetal condition and organs but also the amount of amniotic fluid and where the organs attached. Noticed a defect in the diaphragm and diagnosed congenital diaphragmatic hernia where the lungs are "squished" together. It can compromise not only the lungs, but also the heart. Set a plan for delivery including if they needed clamps on the lungs or to breathe for the patient and a plan to fix the hold in the diaphragm with surgery. The delivery went well and the child and mom are both doing great now!

- 206 babies were delivered at Riley Hospital in November (11/7-11/30).
- 7 OBICU admissions providing high-level care to mothers.
- Team handles 13,000 patients in a year
- Seeing a record volume of patients in the Fetal Center and receiving a record number of referrals
- Families can be together within just a few hours even when their infant is critically ill

In early November 2021, a dozen moms, 31 babies and 500 volunteers made a big transition. They moved into the new 116-bed Riley Hospital for Children Maternity Tower.

Riley Hospital for Children has the largest NICU in the state and one of only 2 Level 1V NICU's.
